How to Apply

New Applicants

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife Enforcement Program utilizes a testing service known as Public Safety Testing (PST) to conduct continuous entry-level candidate testing.

Applicants who score sufficiently high in the PST testing process will be considered for additional civil service testing to be administered by the Department of Fish and Wildlife. Scores on the PST and Department administered exams will be combined to establish an eligibility list.

You will be able to view information about our agency as well as our entry-level requirements.

Public Safety Testing can be reached at www.publicsafetytesting.com or by calling (866) HIRE911.

Candidates will be selected by ranking from the eligibility list for further consideration in the selection process. The selected candidates will be notified by mail of additional testing dates, times and location.

The following documents must be on file with WDFW prior to the second phase testing:

- Completed Application from Public Safety Testing
- A signed and notarized Applicant Liability Waiver and Release Agreement (also found on the Public Safety Testing website)
